Vertical Drama Season Planner

Plan a full 60-episode vertical drama season before you generate a single clip. Built to use with AI Drama Series — or any vertical drama workflow.

1. Your Season in One Page

Season title: _____

Genre: _____ Language: _____

One-sentence premise (the hook a stranger understands in 5 seconds):

_____

_____

Lead character: _____ Secret they hide: _____

Rival / antagonist: _____ What they want: _____

2. Cast Lock Sheet (same face, voice, wardrobe — every episode)

Write one line per character. This is the sheet that keeps your cast consistent across the whole season.

Character	Look (face / hair / wardrobe)	Voice note	Role
Lead
Rival
Support 1
Support 2

3. The 60-Episode Arc (cliffhanger beats)

A vertical drama season lives or dies on its cliffhangers. Plot one hook per block — every episode should end with a reason to watch the next one.

Episodes	Story beat	Cliffhanger that ends the block
1–5	Hook + world + secret introduced
6–15	Rivalry heats up; first betrayal
16–30	Secret leaks; alliances flip
31–45	Confrontation; lead loses everything
46–55	Comeback plan; final twist
56–60	Finale + season-2 hook

4. Episode Checklist (copy per episode)

■ Hook in the first 3 seconds	The opening line or image that stops the scroll.
■ One clear conflict per episode	One scene, one tension — no filler subplots.
■ Cast Lock checked	Same face, voice, wardrobe as the cast sheet.
■ Cliffhanger ending	End on a question, a reveal, or a threat.
■ Captions burned in	Many viewers watch muted — captions carry the scene.
■ Thumbnail + title + description	Written before upload, not after.

Made as a free bonus with the AI Drama Series review on Pickzox. No earnings promise is made anywhere in this planner — results depend on your stories, your consistency, and your audience.